In his dream the rebels attack his home and take him away from his mother. She had stopped dancing and there were tears in her eyes.