Then, as more American men and materiel arrived in 1942-43, MacArthur began to pursue the New Guinea campaign at full throttle. He turned MacArthur's timetable, and in the New Guinea campaign, MacArthur 'valued time.' Exhibition of U.S. war paintings from MacArthur's New Guinea When General Douglas MacArthur led Allied troops into the jungles of New Guinea in World War II, he was already looking ahead. By successfully leapfrogging