microcomputer software tools for project information management. The student will be provided with a working knowledge of the most common business computer application software. This course will provide the student with knowledge of the basic concepts of computer hardware and software. Topics include operating systems, data structures, and computer architecture.
would automatically expand the information-transfer rate uses microcomputer. Another area uses microcomputers not as educational. Accounting Microcomputer Applications 1 - Centennial College Application software are programs that direct the performance of a particular use. DOS - is an older operating system which was used on microcomputers. Cape Cod Community College Home Introduction to Microcomputer Applications. in word processing, spreadsheet processing, relational database processing, and presentation software.